He Lived Too Long.

As a general thing it is only in novels that retributive justice seizes the villain at the moment of the commission of a great crime, but occasionally it happens in real life. A case in point is the following:

During the days of slavery a negro slave named Rolls Banks was carried from this county to Missouri by Rev. Mitchell.

In due time the slaves were freed and Banks, being frugal and industrious, accumulated considerable property. His children grew up and moved away, he knew not where.

Yearning for the sympathies and ministrations of relatives he sent to this county about half a dozen years ago for his nephew, John Evans, agreeing to leave his property to Evans on condition that the latter would take care of him during the remainder of his life.

After a year or two Evans grew tired of waiting for his old uncle to die, and resolved to hasten the desired event.

The latter lived in a cabin not far from the one occupied by his nephew.

Evans went one night to his uncle's house, poured coal oil on it in various places and set it on fire.

In so doing he got a quantity of the oil on his own clothing.

The old man awakened by the flames rushed to the door and attempted to escape.

He was met by his nephew who sunk an ax deep into his victim's skull, and the old man fell back into the flames.

As the latter opened the door, however, the flames followed him and in a moment the oil soaked clothes of the murderer were in flames.

He attempted to beat off the flames and in his agony jumped into an adjacent well and was drowned.

The murderer and his victim were buried together.

No claimants appeared for the property which had caused the crime and it escheated to the state.—Winchester Democrat.

The Greatest Kentuckian.

Perhaps by and by the Kentucky people will begin to think of and be proud of a native of that state who was not impetuous, nor fiery, nor passionate, nor

"quick to resent imputations and reflections;" a man who suffered more insults than any other of his time and bore them with good fortitude; whose unflinching good nature and unwearying patience gained a nation and franchised a race, and whose name will live in history when all the chivalry and pseudo-chivalry and pinchbeck chivalry who spend their lives standing over their honor and going off at half-cock whenever it is blown upon, have passed into oblivion. His name was

Abraham Lincoln.—New York Tribune.

WALKED ALL DAY.
How a Georgia Moonshiner Earned Fifty Cents.

A strange scene was enacted in the yard of the county jail Sunday.

If any one had looked behind the tall board fence among the moonshiners about 6 o'clock yesterday morning they would have seen from the earnest conversation of the men and their excited gestures that something unusual was about to happen, and if they had peeped behind the fence at 6:30 they would have seen a long, tall fellow walking back and forth along the narrow yards, looking neither to the right nor left, but keeping up the steady liek he had struck, unmindful of the remarks made by his companions.

It was a long walk, for it began at 6:30 in the morning and ended at 7 in the evening, but the most remarkable part about it was that the young man was about five miles away for the small sum of fifty cents.

The young man who did the walking is David R. Payne, of Union county, who is serving a thirty-day sentence in jail for illicit distilling.

His home is on Young Cane creek, and he is as wild and untutored as a mountain moonshiner ever gets to be.

Yesterday morning when breakfast was being served, Turnkey Pat McInlough, in a joking way, said to Payne, who had been bragging about the long walks he had taken, "I'll bet you fifty cents you can't walk all day."

"A whole fifty cents!" he exclaimed, with a whistle of astonishment.

"Yes; fifty cents," replied Mr. McCullough.

"You mean it, pardner; you aint joking?"

"Not a bit of it."

"It's a go, pardner. I'll take the bet, for ev'er you fellers will cover the fifty cents."

The money was covered and at 6:30 o'clock Payne began his walk, striking into a long, swinging stride, which he kept up all day long. He walked from one side of the yard to the other, a distance of 150 yards for the round trip, making it every two minutes.

When dinner time came he did not stop to eat, but took his plate of viuetals in his hand, eating as he walked. He was given water many times during the day, but never stopped to drink it. He swallowed it on the move, and never once lost the long, swinging stride he started with in the morning.

He kept up this walk until seven o'clock, never stopping for a minute after he had started.

By making the calculation, it will be seen that, if he walked 150 yards in two minutes, he walked from 6:30 to 7:12 hours, a distance of 33 miles and a fraction.

He was given the fifty cents when he finished his walk, and seemed very proud of it as he laid it away in his pocket with the remark, "That's a good little pifte er money. I never did see as much as $5 at one time during all my life."

Atlanta Journal.

The postmaster general has given an account of the matter of endeavoring to collect debts by the sending of postal cards which is certain to be one of interest to every business man. Two postal cards were submitted to him. On one was written:

"Please call and settle account which is long past due and for which our collector has called several times, and oblige." The other contained these words:

"You owe us $1.80. We have called several times for same. If not paid at once we shall place with our law agency for collection."

The postmaster general, on the decision of the congressional and executive committees to meet in Winchester June 22, to fix a time and place for the congressional convention, and the time and manner of choosing delegates to it. It is probable that the congressional convention will be held at Jackson or Beattyville.

The basis of representation is usually one for every one hundred votes or fraction over fifty. This will make the total vote in convention 115, divided as follows:

Breathitt, 6; Clark, 16; Elliott,

6; Estill, 8; Floyd, 6; Johnson, 15;

Knott, 2; Lee, 6; Magoffin, 8; Martin,

6; Menefee, 8; Montgomery, 10; Morgan,

6; Pike, 13; Powell, 4; Wolfe, 4.

"Boss" Croker No Longer.

Richard Croker's official connection with Tammany Hall ceased Thursday of last week, when he handed in his resignation as chairman of the finance committee. The resignation was accepted. Mr. Croker was in the wigwam until 6 o'clock.

He shook hands with his faithful followers before he left. No one has yet been appointed leader in his place nor will there be until after the next campaign.

John McQuade will succeed Mr. Croker as chairman of the finance committee. The position will be merely honorary, and will not carry the power attached to it in the past.

Keep a-Jumpin'.

The merchant who expects to do much business in 1894 must practice the lesson taught in the following story: Two frogs found themselves in a pull of milk which they could not jump out. One of them was for giving up and said to the other, "Good-by; I sink, I die." Said his mate, "Brace up, you old duffer. Keep a-jumpin' and see what turns up." So they kept jumping up and down all night and by morning had so churned the milk that it turned to butter, and they jumped off the butter to the ground.

Applied to business the fable means this: If you want the business of 1894 to exceed that of 1893, "Keep a-jumpin'." Don't cry, "I sink, I die." The merchant who continues looking for bad times will not survive to see good times. The man who keeps jumping will see good times first. Carry a level head, buy standard goods and keep a good, clean stock, an attractive store, and advertise with bright, attractive ads.

Reputable Congressional Convention.

K. J. Hampton, secretary of the Republican congressional committee of this (Tenth) district, has called a meeting of the congressional and executive committees to meet in Winchester June 22, to fix a time and place for the congressional convention, and the time and manner of choosing delegates to it. It is probable that the congressional convention will be held at Jackson or Beattyville. The basis of representation is usually one for every one hundred votes or fraction over fifty. CURIOUS SOFA PILLOWS.

A Curse for Collecting Them—These That Have a Meaning.

One would suppose that the sofa pillows, those small, banish sofa pillows from the popular place they occupy, but they are as much in vogue as ever. Whether one lives in large house or tiny apartment, there are pillows. One or two are not enough; no, seven, anyway, for one couch and extra. In a tiny up-town house belonging to an architect, there are pillows, and materials in a drawer for the three to complete the half hundred. She has window seats and couches, tete-a-tetes, and chairs for them. They are all sizes and shapes and kinds, from brocade to gingman. Brooklyn, too, has the fad, and neighbors vie with one another as to how many can put in the sofa.

It seems not only necessary to have your pillows pretty, but they must have a meaning as well. Souvenir pillows are as popular as spoons. The other day a young matron showed her pillows, which were an inviting little group. The first, a pink silk one, which, pating terribly, she said, was the first she had ever seen; the next, a white India silk with brown spots, was the gown when he first saw her; the next, a white India silk with brown spots, was the gown when he asked the all-important question. She remarked the wrinkled condition, but said they would not iron out. Then the pillow from a piece of the wedding gown, embroidered with the initials of a son; and the sweetest pillow of all, a tiny one of white muslin, with a frill of Valenciennes, which was the baby's christening robe. What could one not dream resting among such memories?

Another young woman has her pillows made from pieces of each gown in her trousseau, and being married in summer, they are mostly dried silk ones.

In Boston, heart-shaped engagement pillows are superseding engagement cups.

Perhaps the most striking collections are found in the studios—in one down town they are made of gingman or percale, and in another as fine as brocade, and need be. The maker bought the goods out of season, and each one is a bargain. The most attractive, a white with red poppies, was ten cents a yard, while big shilling Scotch plaid made fetching ones, indeed.

It is quite as important nowadays to have your pillows elaborately to be bedecked with one's crest as the notes paper or table linen. Our men, at least our bachelors, are as enthusiastic as the women, and the popular ones are recipients of many beautiful specimens. One fellow in his "rooms" has a pillow made from the flag of every nation in our own and the Stripes, from Australia's land, great and small, and both are China's dragon and "St. George for Merlin Engine." He says the next collection he makes he is going to have the girls make portraits of all our presidents on white linen ones.

Schoolgirls have the craze, too, but one such friend has them to a greater purpose. In the corner of the library is a tete-a-tete, and she has a pillow for each favorite college—a dark blue one with a large white Y on it, a lovely crimson one, and a giddy orange and black. When Mr. Yale comes to call the others are tucked away, while when the Bostonian appears crimson occupies the place of honor, and so on. She pays them all a delicate compliment, indeed.

We American women never will allow as do our luxuriant sisters of the orient. We haven't time to lounge, and they are for effect certainly. Our husband remarks: "They are made to appear inviting; but, heaven! if I dare disturbance!"—N. Y. Sun.

REPUBLICAN ATTACKS.

SHIFTING THE BlAME DUE TO THE BLIGHTING McKinley ACT.

The effrontery of the republican leaders and organs in charging upon the democratic party—and especially upon the administration—those sins of the church which we have passed and the resulting consequences to the business of the country is the most brazen thing of the kind the country has ever witnessed. If these leaders and organs had any sense of responsibility or of shame they would be doing penance in sackcloth and ashes for the effects of their conduct in placing malignant agents in their party instead of trying to foist the responsibility upon the shoulders of their political opponents. For it is as clear as day to the intelligence of the world that in so far as the troubles from which the country has been suffering and suffering can be traced to the action of any political party, they are directly traceable to the action of the republican party.

Largely, of course, they are due to causes with which the country has had long experience—to extravagance and over-confidence in business and to the undue extension of credit which can not be easily repaid. But the cause of the party—but we challenge successful contradiction of the statement that the bulk of our business troubles are due directly to the extravagant expenditures of the republican party while in power and to the class legislation which bears the label of that party. That the party which itself has been driven by the party had been driven by an indignant and outraged people does not change the fact. It was clearly foreseen while the party was in power and it is the main clearly predicted; and it was because it was seen and predicted that the party was driven from power.

The McKinley act was in great part responsible for our financial troubles, but it was, though grudgingly, admitted by the more intelligent leaders of the republican party. That the McKinley act is also responsible to a great degree is susceptible of the clearest proof. To it can be traced directly the falling off in sales of cotton, tobacco, sugar, and other staples which has been so important a factor in the diminution of our trade. This was clearly foretold. The framers of the McKinley act were distinctly warned that the imposition which act contemplated on our purchases of foreign products was fatal to us.

It required no gift of prophecy to utter the warning. It was simply the voice of all experience; and the end merely confirmed the teaching of the past. Great Britain is nothing if not commercial. She buys of those to whom she can sell. Finding that she cannot sell to us she sought to tax us until we should buy from Russia and the Argentine Republic, and her cotton of India, sending in exchange what she had to sell. It was not sentiment, but business. She has bought of us what she was compelled to, but she bought no more, and the consequence has been an enormous falling off in sales sufficient to account for half of the disaster which has befallen our business interests.

The McKinley act was responsible also, very largely, for the overproduction in manufactures which has glutted our markets and brought about stagnation. It has been the result of protectionism and free trade, in fact. The first effect is to unduly stimulate manufacturing and thereby competition. Then follows that failing in prices over which the short-sighted protectionists goat as the fruits of their pet policy. The next step is the scramble to unload and this soon results in stagnation. There is nothing new in the process. It is as old as protective tariffs are.

The most absurd of the pretenses by which it is sought to justify the attack on the democratic party is that the foundation of the trouble has been dread of tariff changes. Aside from the fact that the function and duty of congress has produced, and is producing a feeling of uncertainty which militates against the revival for which we are all waiting. But it is arrant nonsense to talk of the panic, so called, having been produced by anxious anticipation of tariff changes. Aside from the fact that the blighting effect of the McKinley act is abundant sufficient to account for the mischief alone, it is notorious that because of the evils it foreseen from that act the country voted overwhelmingly for those very tariff changes which it is now represented looking forward to with glee and for boding.—Detroit Free Press.

—There are just three things that are absolutely essential to the existence of the democratic party just now, and these are (1) That a tariff-reform bill be passed. (2) That a satisfactory tariff-reform bill be passed. (3) That a satisfactory tariff-reform bill be passed. (4) That a satisfactory tariff-reform bill be passed. AGRICULTURAL HINTS.

PROGRESSIVE TEXANS.

What Travis County Has Done to Improve
Its Public Roads.

About two years ago we furnished Travis county, Tex., with a complete outfit for stone road-making—crusher, engine and roller. They had previously been using our road-grading machine, and we present herewith an illustration showing the kind of roads that county is now making. A article by John C. Edgar, of Travis county, Tex., may no doubt be of interest to our readers, as it shows how it was possible for Travis county to secure better condition of public highways.

Mr. Edgar, in commenting upon the road situation in Travis county, says: "While it is true that our road and bridge fund's will not permit of an extensive system of road-making, it is possible to do a great deal more than is attempted. Many have been deterred from doing anything by not knowing anything about road-making and through fear of misleading the county." That feeling seems to be prevalent in Travis (Travis) county from time immemorial until the election of our present judge and board of commissioners about a year ago.

The majority of that body happened to be broad-gauged, progressive men, who understood their responsibilities and determined to give the people the relief within their power. What they did may be a useful guide for others. They are making steady progress.

LIMESTONE ROAD IN TRAVIS COUNTY, TEX.
[Built on soft, loose prairie soil by farmers under direction of a county engineer.]

and laying the foundation of a grand system of county roads. I may state that this county is about two-thirds black prairie and the balance mountain land. The black land furnishes a good dry weather road, but a bad and often impassable one in wet weather. The mountain roads are rough but never enough to travel on, so do not give the traveling man trouble. The movement is, therefore, confined to our black land roads. For some years the county has owned a number of scrapers, mule teams, plows, etc., which were used for road purposes, but the controlling power seemed content to do small repairs and had no plan of road-making.

"Now we have a good grading machine, driven by a gasoline motor, which excavates the soil on the sides and dumps it in the middle of the road, leaving good ditches. * * * We have also got a stone crushing machine, driven by steam power, for converting rock into road metal.

"Our mountain formation is limestone, well adapted for road material, so the climate where we never have frost is well adapted for us in northern climates. * * * There is plenty of good material being used, indeed more than plenty, in fact more than double the amount necessary. Our roads are being covered with crushed stone to a depth of twelve to eighteen inches according to the varying needs of the roads. * * * Making is thorough, but waste. Macadam rarely puts down a coat of material thicker than six or eight inches, the exception being the near approach to large cities, where the traffic was continuous and heavy. * * * If six inches of road metal ever made a good and durable road, it would do so where they are now depositing eighteen inches.

"That is where the waste comes. By this management we are now getting but one mile of road where we should have two and a half, and that of a better quality. * * * The chief items of cost where convict labor and steam shovels are used is for hauling. Convict labor is being paid by the volume, partly by weekly terms, * * * It seems to me if the farmers in our black land counties would unite in this matter and press it upon their county representatives, instead of clamoring and demanding impossible concessions from a paternal government, they would be more to improve their condition and advance the prosperity of their class."

Any comment on the foregoing seems to me to be unnecessary. It shows conclusively that the work of improving American roads is much harder in contemplation than in realization; and, although necessarily a work of constant labor, it is to the thoughtful mind that the same character of energy, persistence and intelligence which has produced such stupendous results in the development of other branches of our internal improvements, must eventually give to this country a condition of public highways which will more fittingly represent its advanced civilization.—Good Roads.

SPRAYING SAVED HALF.

Interesting Experiments Carried on at the Ohio Station.

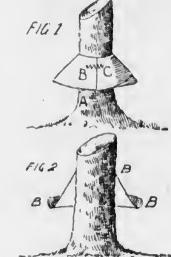

The opinion has been held by a few that unfavorable weather is not, in all cases, the direct cause of failure, and some experiments carried out by the Ohio experiment station strengthen this opinion. An orchard of Newberg crabapple, of nearly two hundred trees, was divided off into plots, most of the plots containing less than one row, and some as many as four. The dilute Bordeaux mixture, which was found to be best, occupied the same space last season. The ingredients used in the mixture were sulphate copper, one pound; lime, one pound; sand, water, 50 gallons. Comparing the two plots where this compound was used with the two unsprayed plots the astonishing fact was observed that no marketable fruit could be found on the unsprayed plots, nor was there much fruit of any kind, while on the sprayed plots, which had been subjected to the same unfavorable climatic conditions, there was about half a crop.

It is well known that crab attacks apples in all stages of growth, and that if it appears very early it may cause the young fruit to drop prematurely. When it attacks the blossoms it is of little destruction. The first spraying was done before the blossoms had blomed, and the suppotion is that many of the fungus spores were thus destroyed and the apples were thus given a chance to develop. Early spraying is essential to the best success in preventing the apple crab. Develops live moss which checks crab activity and begins growth in the spring at the same time as the leaves start to grow. How rapidly the fungus develops depends upon the weather. No dates can be named for spraying, but a good plan is to make the first application just before the leaves open, and the second just after the leaves open, at which time four ounces of paraffin should be added to each five gallons of the mixture, in order to kill the apple worm. A third spraying with the combined mixture is to be given about ten days later, and still another after the same length of time in case of continued wet weather.—Farm and Home.

PROTECT THE TREES.

A Good Device for the Parent on Which Has Just Expired.

Among the existing patents is one for the protection of fruit-bearing trees against insect pests, which has never been put into practice. The device can be made of any thin metal, it would be preferable on account of cheapness, but copper would be the most enduring. The metal is so cut and formed that when applied to a tree it resembles the frustum of a cone as at II, Fig. 1. In the original it was held in place by an elastic band, which is not as suitable as a small spiral spring, as shown by our drawing (c), which passes over hooks or projections which are bent outwards, and together, making it fit snug around the tree. If the tree is uneven, or has cavities in its bark, the clamping edge of the projector can be forced or bent into them, so that a correct fit is made. These projectors are made at a very light cost, and can be of the largest size to hold together several pieces of the tree. The band is to be wound up slightly, to hold some explosive compound or liquid, as shown in Fig. 9 (B); but this is not necessary for protection against the canker worm, for which the device is mainly intended to be used.—American Gardening.

Babcock Butter Fat Test.

The Babcock butter fat test does not show the number of pounds of butter in the milk. The test is designed to show the butter fat only, and as butter contains from 15 to 20 per cent. of other materials, water, curd and salt, it is, of course, likely that the yield of butter will be proportional to the yield of the test shows.

This excess may be from 10 to as much as 25 per cent. more than the test, in accordance with the method used and the manner in which the butter is worked. Of course the more water and salt that is incorporated with the butter, the greater excess can be obtained. When separation is used and the cream is handled in an intelligent way the loss of fat should be very slight. On the average I think the yield of butter exceeds the test by about 15 per cent. It could not exceed it as much as 25 per cent without making a butter that was very low in fat.—S. M. Babcock, Chemist Wisconsin Experiment Station.

George Ross, who murdered Karl Kuhl, assistant postmaster at Cottonwood Falls, Kan., was taken by a mob and hanged from a bridge.

There is a man in Ohio who has made $50,000 with his pony and has never written for publication except advertisements. He sells choicest hogs.

Lucius P. Wilson was electrocuted at the Attica, N. Y., penitentiary last Sunday morning, at half past one o'clock for the murder of Detective James Harvey last July.

Congressman William L. Wilson has returned to Washington from his trip to Texas and New Mexico. He is much recuperated in health, and resumed his duties in the house.

Mrs. Jake Shearer, of Madison county, Kentucky, built a fire in her hen house to burn a lot of rubbish. The litter was burned and so was the hen house, buggy house and contents.

Gov. Brown has appointed fourteen delegates to represent Kentucky at the southern interstate immigration and industrial convention, to be held at Augusta, Ga., commencing May 30.

The state board of equalization has concluded its labors. The total taxable value of property in Kentucky as assessed is $571,283,802, the board having added $10,733,496 to the assessed valuation.

Coxey and his followers having been treated like any other tramps by the Washington authorities, he and they have dropped entirely out. They would never have received any interest, but for the newspapers.

Wayne Tate, the notorious Monroe county, Alabama, desperado, was shot and killed near his home by Murdoch Fountain, a young farmer, Saturday night. There was a large reward for Tate's capture, dead or alive.

The Chicago Record wants to know that if it is true the census bureau indicates that there are 100,000 more married men in the country than there are married women, what is the name Hyman, are those 100,000 men married to?"

Just after the morning service last Sunday, in which Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage had reviewed his twenty-five years' service as pastor of the church, the Brooklyn Tabernacle was found to be on fire, and in a few minutes was totally destroyed.

The residents of Norwood, Ohio, a suburb of Cincinnati, all went to a circus the other night, and the thieves took advantage of the opportunity to rob thirty houses. The burglars had horses and wagons and made a wholesale haul. Over $10,000 worth of goods were taken.

It is rumored that the per capita for common schools this year will be $8 per pupil, instead of $23.50 last year. This is only a conjecture as the census reports have not yet been returned to the state superintendent, and nothing can be known until the returns are tabulated.

Seven armed men rode into Southwest City, Mo., recently, and while two stood guard and two others held the horses, three entered a bank with a sack and secured between $3,000 and $4,000, with which they escaped after firing four hundred shots and wounding four citizens.

Charlton Elrod, a photographer of Louisville, was last week arrested for complicity in an Adams express robbery in Tennessee some time ago. A man named Hardin was tried at Louisville and given charge responsibility, but he recanted last week and was the arrest of Elrod.

At 9 o'clock Sunday morning, at Wheeling, W. Va., George Blakemore, aged sixteen, shot his father, Frank Blakemore, twice through the heart, killing him instantly. The father, a dissolute character, had been drunk all night, and in the morning tried to force his wife to give him the son's wages to buy liquor.

An early hour Wednesday morning of last week, the barn of Ambrose G. Bush, near Elkin, Ky., was burned with all its contents consisting of a lot of hay, harness and farming implements. It was undoubtedly incendiary. A high wind was blowing and the sparks set fire to a large straw stack in a field some distance away and it also was consumed.

FOR SALE—A fine horse and harness, in first-class condition, suitable for this country. Very cheap and on easy terms if sold at once. Inquire at the HERALD office.

PONCE PARK, FLA., May 9, '94.

HON. SPENCER COOPER,

Hazel Green, Ky.

My dear old friend—I have commenced today a description of what I am inclined to think may be America's oldest building. I thought I'd touch on several things, but from the way I start off I am inclined to think I may consume as much space with this as you will have at my disposal. I believe I can make it well worth the space it will occupy. Do not laugh at me until you hear my arguments. I shall take my grubbing hoe and lunch and spend another day at this old building before I send copy for the article.

It is evidently an old Spanish mission and reminds me much of those old missions in the immediate vicinity of San Antonio, Texas, of others in New Mexico, and one of some I saw in Chihuahua, Zacatecas, Agua Calientes and City of Mexico, Mexico. I noticed some magnificent views of this old mission in New Smyrna post office, and some of your readers will corroborate my story.

I am pretty busy this week, but I hope to get my letter off by Monday next.

I am thinking somewhat of paying Wolfe County a visit this fall. Will keep the people up on the question of a turnpike from Torrent to Hazel Green. It would be the best move Wolfe county could make. The saving of time, of wagon wear, of comfort, the saving of horse flesh, in stimulus, it would give, the bicycles, the everything in line of progress would cause you to wonder how you have lived so long without it.

Ever your friend,

L. C. DEMARKE.

ORDINANCES

The following ordinances, passed by the Trustees of Hazel Green on Monday, May 14, are now in force and effect:

Profane Swearing.

If any person shall profanely curse or swear they shall be fined one dollar for each offense, and every oath shall be deemed a separate offense.

Drunkenness.

If any person shall be drunk, they shall be fined one dollar for each offense. If the offense mentioned in this ordinance or the preceding ordinance be committed in the presence of the Police Judge, he may add to the fine of the Police Judge, the amount of fine imposed, and the same, if no further proof is offered, shall be fined five dollars for each offense.

Profane or Profane Swearing.

If any person in any stage play, legitimate show, exhibition or public performance, speech or lecture jestingly or profanely curse or swear, he shall be fined five dollars for each offense.

Disorderly Conduct.

If any person be guilty of being in a quarrel, brawling or disorderly manner, they shall be fined one dollar for each offense.

Disturbing Worship, Schools, or Assemblies.

If any person shall interfere, or distract, or annoy persons engaged for exercising their religion, or shall interrupt or disturb any school or seminary while the students of the same are engaged in their studies or other public exercises, or shall distract, annoy or interfere with the people of God or engaged in a lawful purpose, the person so offending shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than twenty dollars for each offense.

Breach of the Peace.

If any person or persons shall be guilty of breaking windows, they shall be fined or dealt with as provided by the General Statutes of this Commonwealth relative to breach of the peace.

Studs and Jacks Hitched on Streets and Alleys.

If any person shall hitch a stud horse or jacks on any of the streets or alleys in said town, they shall be fined not exceeding five dollars for each offense, except in the case of the duty of the Marshal or Police Judge of said town, on information or personal knowledge of any such horse or jack being so hitched, and the marshal or police judge shall put and in a stable and there safely keep until the fine so imposed, cost of keeping, and costs are paid, and for taking care of same, except in the case of the marshal or police judge, who shall be allowed a reasonable fee not to exceed fifty cents per day, to be allowed by the Police Judge and taxed as costs.

Shooting.

If any person guilty of shooting any bird or animal in any town, village, or city, shall be fined not exceeding five dollars for each offense, except in defense of one's self, family or property, or when necessary in slaying.

License for Shows, etc.

All shows, concerts, or any exhibitions for which admission is charged, the owner or proprietor thereof, shall pay a license or tax for each performance in which admission is charged as follows: If exhibited in a house or hall, two dollars; if exhibited in a store or small canvas, five dollars. This ordinance shall not apply to school or church entertainments.

Indecency.

If any person be guilty of any indecent conduct he shall be fined one dollar for each offense.

Horses, Mules, Jackasses and Juncets Running at Large.

If any person shall permit his horse, male, jessup or jennet to run at large in any of the streets or alleys of said town, he shall be fined fifty cents for each offense, and the Marshal is authorized and shall take the animal in charge and impound it until the fine imposed is paid and a reasonable fee for taking care of the same, not to exceed fifty cents per day, to be allowed by the Police Judge and taxed as costs.

Estrays and Empounding.

Any milch cow, ox, steer, calf, goat, sheep or other running at large within the limits of said town, shall be an estray, and it shall be the duty of the Pound Master to empound said animals and post a written or printed notice at some public place in the same, giving the name and address of the said animals and when empounded; Provided, That if the ownership of said estray is known to the Pound Master, he shall be entitled to a fee of ten cents to remove said estray from and keep them off the streets and alleys of said town, and after the first removal, the same shall be removed at the expense of the pound master, to be determined by the Police Judge; When notice has been served as aforesaid, should the owner of the stock fail or refuse to remove the same, after the expiration of twenty-four hours, the Police Judge shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for each head so running at large, and at the expiration of 24 hours the estray be empounded. The Pound Master shall be entitled to a fee of ten cents for each head: Milch cow, ox, steer, or calf, 50¢; goat or sheep, 15¢; hog, 25¢. In addition to the fees as aforesaid, he shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for each head, by the Police Judge for keeping said estray, which shall be taxed as costs.

Dog Fighting.

If any person shall cause dogs to engage in fighting in said town, or shall furnish a dog to be used in fighting, he shall be fined two dollars for each offense.

Racing on Streets.

If any person shall be engaged, directly or indirectly, in racing a horse around the streets or alleys of said town, either riding or driving in said race, he shall be fined ten dollars for each offense.

Sale of Estrays.

If the fine and costs assessed in sections 7, 11 and 12 are not paid by the defendant, the same shall be paid by the Marshal to advertise and sell the property in custody, as property is sold under execution, to the highest bidder, and after paying the fine and all costs, to be allowed any amount remaining, the Marshal shall pay the remaining amount to the owner of said horse or other property so sold.

Riding or Hitching on Sidewalks.

Any person guilty of riding or hitching on the sidewalks of said town shall be fined one dollar for each offense.

Removal of Obstructions.

If any person having an obstruction of any kind in the streets, alleys, sidewalks or alleys of said town, and fail to remove said obstruction within twenty-four hours after having notice from the Marshal to do so, shall be fined one dollar for each day such obstruction remains after receiving such notice. Should the person so offending fail or refuse to remove said obstruction, the Marshal shall remove the same and be allowed a reasonable fee for the service, to be allowed by the Police Judge and taxed as costs.

TO TRY FOR GAS AND OIL.

PITTSBURG Men Making Experiments In The Big Study Valley.

An Ashland (Ky.) special of the 9th inst. says: Messrs. Haymarket and Truman, Pittsburg, have for several days past been up in the Guyandotte valley of West Virginia and the Big Sandy valley of Kentucky, in the latter about Warfield, looking about with company with Capt. Allen of Huntington, for a promising territory for the location of both oil and gas wells. Mr. Troutman made an experiment near this city one year ago without success beyond the establishment of a firm conviction that this section held both oil and gas in tremendous quantities. Upon his return to Pittsburgh he interested the Haymaker Bros. in the project, with the result that another and more substantial effort will be made in one of the sections above named. Permits are already held for the piping of the gas, in case it is struck in sufficient quantities, to the half-dozen towns clustered about here. The movement this time has a business-like appearance, and there is much interest evinced in the matter.

Samuels & King, Mt. Sterling, is the place for the ladies to find fine dress goods and trimmings, and they can always find there the very latest in fashion and the lowest in price. When you go down to that city call and see them, or if you are not going just now and "hurry" it, why just get him to buy you that nice dress pattern he promised you. It is a beauty.

Rating Revenue.

The state board of equalization completed its labors on Wednesday and adjourned sine die. The result of their work shows the grand equalized total of all property in the state to be $571,883,892, or a raise of $107,338,490 over the assessed valuation. The grand equalized total shows a decrease of $25,715,274 as compared with last year, due to the collapse of several Eastern Kentucky boom towns and the general depreciation in the value of personal property.

That suit you now have on is just a little bit seedy for Sunday wear, and it costs so little to have a new one, that you ought to invest at once. When you come down to Mt. Sterling drop in and see how cheap we are selling a real nice suit. Why, you can get something real nubby for $12. Come and see us.

SHARP, TRIMBLE & DENTON.

Policeman Frank Bell shot and mortally wounded James Davis at Middlebury on Wednesday afternoon. Davis was resisting arrest when shot. Bell is under arrest and the citizens are indignant.

Reverent the Case.

The court of appeals reversed the case of Leander Risner, of Magoffin county, who was convicted of manslaughter, and granted him a new trial on the ground that the jury was not properly drawn from the drums, as provided in the act of May, 1893.

MR. WELLS.

Has a Gold Mine In His Fire Extinguisher.
H. B. Wells, of the Cincinnati and Japan company of Cincinnati, gave a public exhibition of the Stamped fire extinguisher at Market place.

There were present about 400 people, among them Chief Fire Marshal Meyers, Mayor Thomas, Chief Goodson, Dr. Jim Wise and other representative men.

The test was made with a large number of boxes piled about 12 feet high, filled with fine kindling wood all saturated with several gallons of coal oil. They kept putting oil on until the flames drew them back. The fire was allowed to burn for some time and it looked impossible to put it out. When this wonderful little machine was turned on it put out in less than 10 seconds, and the crowd cheered. It is indeed a wonderful machine for extinguishing fire. It is recommended to all property owners—Covington Post.

AYER'S S

A PENITENTIARY.

Convict Likes Me More Than His Warden Cooper.
FRANKFORT, KY., 4-18, '94.
CHARLES C. MOORE, Editor Blue Grass Blade, Lexington, Ky.

—I have a copy of last week's Blade, and I like the paper so much I would like to have it the few weeks I am here.

Mr. Moore, I am in the penitentiary here for two years. My time will be up the 31st of next month (May), and if you will be so kind as to send me the Blade until the 21st of May, I will drop in and see you at the day my time is out and pay you for same.

Mr. Moore, I am clerk in the office of the Kentucky chair company, and I go outside all the time but Sunday. I always hate to see Sunday come. I go to hear the sisters talk sometimes, but I never go to hear Brother Cooper. I will be in Lexington on the 21st and may be I can give you a little piece for your paper.

Hoping I will receive a paper this week,
I am respectfully,
CHARLEY J. BROWN.

Brother, the Blade will come to you regularly. Write me a piece. Come and see me as soon as you get out. I have been in two jails, and may be sent to the penitentiary, and, of course, you being in the penitentiary does not prove to me that you are a bad man. I want to give you some kind of a job on the Blade. There are so many rascals on the outside of the penitentiary that I want to try some man on the inside of it.

Give my love to the warden and tell him that I want him to stand in witness in editing the Blade, if they send me to the penitentiary. We would make a million dollars. My old breeches are about worn out, and I am going to buy me some striped ones just to get my hand in—or rather to get my foot in. I walked three miles last fall to hear Bro. Cooper preach. I heard him. If I have to go to hear him in the penitentiary I am going to get the governor to commute my sentence to hanging.—Blue Grass Blade.

You will want a mower or reaper and binder, and before you make a purchase in that line call and see me under Opera House, Mt. Sterling, Ky., where you will also find a full line of hardware and agricultural implements. Also, the best fertilizer for tobacco ever used anywhere. Respectfully,

W. W. REED.

B. K. Hart Nominated.

The Democratic congressional convention at Mayville, on the 9th inst., was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in the Ninth (Ky.) district. It was a regular love feast, as there was no contest. Hon. R. K. Hart, of Pleasure, the unanimous choice of the convention; he is a young man, but has an able record, having represented his wife three times in the legislature, soliloquized in the present election and urged all Democratic aid to be given in the immediate passage of the reform measure. Senators who were or oppose the passage of such a measure were denounced as traitors. Long speeches were made by Attorney General Hendrick, General Wat Hardin, Senator Payter and others.

"So Clean" is the finest pure white soap ever introduced here. It is better than Cashmere Bouquet for the toilet, superior to Ivory for fine laundry, and ahead of Sapolio for the kitchen. One cake, 10¢; 2 for 15¢; 4 for 25¢. Sold at this office only.

Another Bad Man Gone Right.

The Transcript publishes the following extract from a private letter of Senator John P. Salyer, of Morgan county, to Capt. W. H. May:

"Many discreet and fairly virtuous Democrats in this neck of the woods sympathize with your distinguished and brilliant congressman, and I would be glad to see your district return him. We have no disposition to condemn or endorse his iniquities, but we cannot overlook or ignore his great ability and public service. I am your friend,

JOHN P. SALYER.

Senator Salyer is one of the best men in the state, a perfect gentleman, a sound Democrat, and a fearless advocate of the right.—Lexington Observer.

A lady at Toolers, La., was very sick with bilious colic when M. C. Tisell, a prominent merchant of the town gave her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarhoea Remedy. He says she was well in forty minutes after taking the first dose. For sale by John M. Ross.

The Herald, over at Hazel Green, grows steadily older, abandoning present having tied on to a Campbell cylinder press.—Beattyville Enterprise.

He Visited Paintsville.

Hon. Jo M. Kendall, of Floyd county, and candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress in this district, gave the Times office a pleasant call today. He always remembers "us felons" when he is in town. No one doubts Jo Kendall's popularity in this country; no one will doubt for a moment that he is as deserving and gallant a young Democrat as ever asked a favor of the people. Mr. Kendall seems in the best of spirits and confident of victory, and although he has met with some very unpleasant surprises, he still retains the nerve and grit which is characteristic of him. He thinks the truth congressional districts is not for sale yet, and that the hope of the poor man for his son and the ambition of deserving young men of Kentucky will not be crushed under the foot of wealth.—Paintsville Times.

Examine the date after your name on the margin of this paper, and if behind send us $1 at once, for which we will be quite thankful.

Another Candidate.

Any doubts that may have been in the minds of the Democrats of Magoffin county in regard to the candidacy of Hon. A. B. Stephens, of Floyd county, for congress in the Tenth district, were put at rest last week. Circuit court convened at Maysville on the 9th inst., and an immense crowd being present, Mr. Stephens made an eloquent appeal to the Democrats of Magoffin county to stand by him as the candidate of their sister county of Floyd. He also touched lightly on political questions and was replied to by Major W. J. Seitz, of West Liberty, candidate for the Republican nomination.

He Has Moved Away.

Samuel J. Salyer left Moplay morning for Pikeville, where he will make his future home. Sam leaves a host of friends behind him who wish him abundant success in his new location. He made Morgan county a first class attorney, as good as the county has had for many years, and at his new home we expect to hear of him coming to the front, as he is full of pluck and works with a determination at anything he goes into, and has always been very fortunate in all his undertakings except finding a wife.—Morgan Messenger.

The person who owns an Electropoise possesses a treasure of immense value.

W. O. Florence, Avoca, Ky.

The Electropoise is a quick cure for insomnia, I am much improved in every way. G. M. Phillips, Bradfordsville, Ky.

The physicians will have to adopt the Electropoise in their practice. Dr. A. B. Love, Bedford, Ky.

We have had good results in curing various ailments with the Electropoise.

J. W. Cotton, Bardstown, Ky.

Typhoid fever left me in such a condition that I had despaired of ever getting better, the Electropoise relieved me of all pain first application. I am surely cured by this great remedy. J. W. T. Richardson, Corbin, Ky.

I cured a young girl that I am sure would have died had I not used the Electropoise on it. The result was quick and satisfactory. Mrs. B. H. Pryor, Eddyton, Ky.

The Electropoise has never failed in any case that I have tried it and I have tested it severely. Ed. W. Shankland, Carlisle, Ky.

The Electropoise is worth $100 a day to me. M. S. Crail, Meeting Creek, Ky.

The Electropoise has cured me of Bright's disease after everything else had failed. L. A. Hopson, Hopson, Ky.

"My wife had been a helpless invalid for sixteen years, when she began treatment with the Electropoise, she now does her own house work and cooking. We never dreamed of anything working such a change." H. B. Woodward, Hardinville, Ky.

THE HERALD

The meeting at the Christian church, with Elder Tindler in the pulpit, is still in progress.

John H. Pieratt is now in Covington, where he is a petit jurer in the federal court in session at that place.

Mrs. Rose Trimble whose illness has several times been mentioned in these columns, is still dangerously sick.

Dr. Stamper requests us to publish a call for an examination of non-graduate physicians, which we will do next week.

Mrs. Belle Godsey, who has been suffering from rheumatism for sometime, is now using the Electrosope and improving rapidly.

The congressional muddle in this district promises to be very interesting before the finish, and a dark horse may win the prize.

The West Lexington Presbytery, recently in session at Cynthiana, appointed Rev. E. P. Mickel, of Jackson, to assist Rev. James Little in his work in this territory.

Rev. E. W. Bedinger of Anchorage, will begin a meeting in the Presbyterian church at this place on the Friday before the fourth Sunday in this month, and all are invited to attend.

Burt Neville, an actor who recently came here on an engagement with the Teet's Bros. show, is confined to his bed with consumption and critically ill. Dr. Taubbee is attending him and hopes to pull him through.

Charley Keyser, representing the old reliable foot and shoe house of C. P. Tracy & Co., Portsmout, Ohio, was here Tuesday and Wednesday, and incidentally stated that the congressional tangle in the upper counties grows worse day after day.

Hon. Jo M. Kendall, of Floyd county, was in town Wednesday shaking hands with the boys, and seems quite sanguine with regard to the nomination for congress. Indeed, he thinks the race will be between him and Mr. Lisle, and that the dark horses, some two or three of which have entered the contest, will not be it.

R. D. Motley received a letter from James K. Wells, who is attending the Kentucky School of Medicine, where Mr. Motley's little boy, Oscar, went to have an operation performed, and he says that the operation was a success in every particular. The little fellow will not be confined to his bed, but allowed to play with the children at the hospital, where he will have to stay a couple of months.

Captain Weedon Gay, a prominent farmer and trader, well known to many of our citizens, died at his home at Bowen, Powell county, on Saturday night. He had been very despondent since the death of his son, Joel Gay, a few weeks ago. It will be remembered that the young man killed himself in the presence of both father and mother. Captain Gay had said to a number of friends that he did not want to live, but whether he died by his own hand or from natural causes we have not been able to definitely ascertain, but it is generally thought that he committed suicide.

Judge Amos Davis, of Morgan county, was here Wednesday, representing Bettman Bros. & Co., clothiers of Cincinnati, and he intimated that he might answer the solicitation of a number of friends and make the race for congress 'in this district. Judge is thoroughly identified with the interests of the mountains, has an immense following, is an incorruptible gentleman well versed in statecraft, and should conclude to make the race he will prove a formidable candidate. If he definitely declares his candidacy, THE HERALD will have his announcement and we will have more to say about him.

Dr. B. J. Cox, of Elliottville, Rowan county, passed through here Wednesday en route home. He had been visiting his sons, Dr. Drack, Samp, and Joel, all of whom live in our county. Dr. Cox, sr., was 84 years of age on the 15th of March last but looks to be much younger, and can ride horseback much better than many not half so old. He told the writer that he can ride after night and frequently does so in the practice of medicine, and that for two years past he has not felt a pain. He has been a tobacco chewer since he was 23 years old, but does not smoke. Dr. Cox is connected with the Rock Spring association of Baptists, and still takes an active part in its affairs. He looks to be in perfect health and from present indications there are yet many years of usefulness before him.

As will be seen from the advertisement of the Hazel Green fair, which appears in our issue today, it will this year be run as a mountain fair. This is the best move ever made by the association, as our mountain farmers had no chance against the blue grass people. The four preceding fairs being open to the world induced many of our farmers to import a better class of horses, cattle, hogs and sheep, and to that extent it has been a benefit in not berring the blue grass. But in a competing exhibition against them our people had no chance of winning, and in that respect it was detrimental. So, on the whole, it has been a benefit and placed us in a position that we can now compete with each other. This will encourage enterprise in getting up the best stock for exhibition, and thus our people will be enabled to go on improving their stock until after awhile we can again throw down the bars and bid the blue grass come in. Then we will be prepared to meet them with stock as good as they have, and need have no fear. But now it is best to bar them, and we believe the association has strengthened itself with the people in doing so.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, R. A. Childers, Maytown, May 9, Rev. W. W. Manker, of the Methodist church, officiating. Robert Wills, only son of Jordan Wills, of Morgan county, to Miss Sarah Childers. The wedding was very quiet, only the relatives and a few intimate friends being present. The groom is a prosperous young farmer of Morgan county, and a very popular gentleman. Miss Childers, the bride, is a very handsome young lady, loved and respected by all who know her. Their many friends extend congratulations and sincerely hope their married life will be happy and prosperous. They will go to housekeeping soon on his farm near Maytown.

The election officers for the primary election to be held on the 20th inst., are as follows: Hazel Green—W. T. Swango, clerk; Bill Toliver, sheriff; Ernestus Brooks, and John Henry Campbell, judges. Campion—Roht, Carroll, clerk; John Drake, sheriff; Douglas Evans and C. C. Wireman, judges. Torrent—Heury Cox, clerk; Wm. L. Bush, sheriff; J. Creech and Jesse Adams, judges; Red River—Frank P. Wilson, clerk; Robt. Anderson, sheriff; Henry Rose and Dick Linden, judges. Stillwater—John Blair, clerk; George Brooks, sheriff; John Taylor and Joe A. Rose, judges. Holly J. W. Congleton, clerk; Wash Tyre, sheriff; B. F. Hatton and Mace Gibbs, judges.

See the advertisement headed "Ordinances," and acquaint yourselves therewithly with its provisions if you would avoid trouble. The new constitution requires all towns of the sixth class to organize under the charter made and provided for its class, and this Hazel Green has done. The trustees do not desire to impose a penalty on any person or put any one to inconvenience, but they do desire that all ordinances shall be complied with and in this wise ask the co-operation of all good citizens both in town and county. Every good citizen will, therefore, help them in the good work and we hope all will be satisfied.

Academy Notes.
Has any one heard of the academy lamp?

S. M. Nickell was at West Liberty Saturday.

Miss Nannie Fields spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of her parents, near Rosedale.

Visiting at their former home in Morgan county Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. F. M. Tindler will deliver an address to the school at 11 a.m. today in the chapel, subject—Reading.

Rev. F. M. Tindler and J. F. Taubbee spent Saturday at Hazel Green, but they did not visit the "cliffs" on Sunday.

H. C. Lacy, representative to the blue grass league constitutional contest, will leave for Winchester on the 31st inst.

Quite a number from the Academy will be examined for certificates to teach on June 1 and 2, in this and adjoining counties.

Wanted! The town council to remove the "sand bank" that obstructs the pavement somewhere between the academy and home.

Howard French, president of the Hazel Green club, reports that much interest is being manifested in the order and that the club will be a success.

J. S. Adams, H. C. Lacy, C. E. and J. M. French, E. E. Atkinson, H. C. Phillips, E. W. McKinley, G. A. Williams and S. F. Hamilton were faithful in their efforts to assist Mr. Ringo to pull down the old stable, a dilapidated pile of a hillside on last Saturday. Such assistance is very commendable.

I will pay in Cash 12½ cents a pound for bacon butter, and $4 per pound for good hams, delivered at the Academy home. Wm. H. Comb.

WOLFE COUNTY NEWS.

Lee City, Lincoln.

D. N. Wells and Robert F. Anderson went to Clay City last week on business. James Shockey has a very sick child. Dr. W. S. Maddox has been called to see it.

T. F. Robbins, of Patsy, Estill county, was here last week, a guest of Dr. W. S. Maddox, who lives above town.

J. C. Callahan, of Crockettsville, Breathitt county, passed through here last Saturday enquiring the way to Senator W. H. Taubbee's.

Rev. Hor. B. Croxford, of the Baptist church, is now preaching in our town. He is the first Hardin County Baptist who ever preached in Lee City.

Born, to the wife of G. B. Maloney, a girl, May 10; to the wife of Alison Rose, a boy, May 7; to the wife of E. G. Patrick, a boy, May 13. Don't you think Lee City will soon have a large population.

The following ladies of Lacy creek paid our town a pleasant visit Sunday: Mrs. Anna Rose, wife of John B. Rose, daughter of John B. Rose. The following young men of there also visited here: Ellis Johnson, Stephen Rose, Bonny Lacy, Eddie James and Harrison Perkins.

Sylvester O'Hair, of Illinois, was in town last week.

Elder J. A. Howard will begin a protracted meeting at this place June 8.

John Combs and Thomas Daniel have returned home from college at Lexington.

Miss Loula Cockrell has been quite sick for some time, but is now slowly improving.

Mr. Dwight, the foreman of the Morgan County Messenger, was in town Saturday evening, and we are sure that he enjoyed the time.

C. D. Moore, a finished drummer, is now devoting considerable time to the study of music. At least we suppose so, as we notice that he has much to say to an accomplished lady teacher of West Liberty.

One of the grandest and most enjoyable social events that Hazel Green ever has been blessed with occurred Saturday afternoon. The towns of West Liberty, Maytown, Hazel Green and Campion were well represented. One of the special features of attraction and interest of the occasion was a moonlight party given by Misses Anna E. and Emma Pieratt, daughters of Silas Pieratt. This home is one of the prettiest in the town and surrounding country. The place was ornamented with swinging lights which could be seen for miles around. Here assembled one hundred and fifty people, and when everything was in readiness, the West Liberty band began to play, and the band boys were on the ground. The cliffs and hills were here by special request, and in justice to them we must say that we were surprised at the progress they have made in mastering the art. The climax of the occasion was reached Sunday when the grand ball was given, beginning at 10 o'clock at the Cliffs and Hills.

Here the band boys came to the front again and among the pine and bowlers that have rested in solitude for ages, echoed the thrilling sounds of music, and no doubt the owls and bats peeped out from their hiding places to listen to the strains of the band as they had come. An artist from New York, who was traveling through the country was induced to attend and make photographs of groups and scenery, which will be a record of a joyous Sunday on May 13, 1894.

COLD SIRVE.

How a Nobe Fooled a Smart Attorney of the Hoosier State.

For several days about a dozen hobos were camped on the river near Lawrenceburg, Ind. Becoming a nuisance by boggling from house to house, the police last week routed them. One of the gang was recognized as an ex-convict who some years ago was arrested on the charge of robbery and tried in Dearborn county. O. B. Liddle, then an attorney of Lawrenceburg, but now of Denver, Colorado, defended the fellow, who had half a dozen aliases. The prisoner promised to pay $50 for the lawyer's services, but, receiving a two year sentence in the penitentiary, and being removed to Jeffersonville without paying anything, the attorney never expected to hear of his unfortunate client again or receive a cent on his fee. But when the prisoner had paid the penalty inflicted by the court he returned to Lawrenceburg and stole a $300-horse from the unpaid attorney, took it to Cincinnati, sold it for $110, revisited Lawrenceburg, hunted up the lawyer, and surprised, as well as delighted him, by paying the $50 fee he had promised before his conviction. Mr. Liddle praised the fellow for his honesty, little thinking he was getting part of the money realized on the sale of his valuable family horse. The stolen animal was never recovered, and the thief, whose real name was Smith, would never have been suspected of the crime if he had not boasted of it when subsequently sent to the penitentiary a second time, from Ripley county for horse-stealing. He said it was too good a horse to keep and he wanted the people to know how easily he had fooled a smart attorney, and convinced him he was an honest man by unexpectedly paying an old debt. As there was no warrant in existence for his arrest, and Mr. Liddle was over 1,000 miles away, the officers could not hold him for the stealing of the horse, and he was made to hustle to another location as rapidly as possible.

Bloodhounds To Be Used.

In the future bloodhounds will be used to track criminals in Fayette county. Since before the war this practice has not been in force. At a meeting of the fiscal court Squire Levi Grow threw a bombshell into the camp by moving that a committee be appointed to consider a proposition to purchase six bloodhounds for the county, one to be placed in each precinct and used by the farmers in chasing down thieves of all characters. Squire Grow explained that the amount of meat and the number of fowls and small animals that had been stolen from the farmers made this action necessary. The committee reported favoring the scheme, and the chances are that the blue grass will use bloodhounds instead of detectives in catching criminals in the time to come. This will not be an innovation, but a restoration of the practices before the war in slave times.

How It Pays.

As an illustration of the value of advertising even in small matters, one of our druggists this week said that year he did not advertise his garden seeds and sold $19 worth; this year he kept it before the people through the columns of the Democrat and his sales amounted to $800; another gentleman living in the suburbs put in a small local announcing garden plants for sale, and disposed of more than $20 worth of tomato plants alone. He said nearly every customer mentioned the fact that he had seen the advertisement in the Democrat, and had come in consequence.—Winchester Democrat.

Women's Tribune.

With the most patriotic and impressive ceremonies, the monument erected by the women of the United States to the mother of Gen. Washington was dedicated at Fredericksburg, Va., last Friday. Brief speeches were made by President Cleveland and Governor O'Farrell, Senator Daniel delivering the oration. Among the throng in attendance were Vice President Stevenson, Secretaries Carlisle, Gresham, Lamont, Morton and Bassell, Justice John M. Harlan, and many ladies from Washington and elsewhere.

Sheriff Douthill, of Mayfield, arrested Ben Thompson, a young man 20 years of age, in Missouri, Wednesday, on the charge of murdering an old man named Ashlock last fall in Wingo, 20 miles below Paducah. Ashlock was run over on the streets and killed mysteriously. Following the murder was the disappearance of Thompson and Rome Ashlock, a nephew of the murdered man. The nephew is still at large.

Humphreys' specific No. 10 cures dyspepsia, indigestion, and weak stomach. A small bottle of pleasant pallets; just size your vest pocket 25 cents. Sold by all druggists.

Their Nerve Failed Them.

The east bound express train on the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad was fired into one night last week near Horse Creek, Ala., where the miners' riot occurred. The engineer stopped the train and two men attempted to climb upon the tender. The express messenger seeing them, opened fire from his car, and the men fled to the woods. They were armed, but did not return the fire. It is thought to have been an attempt to rob the train, the nerve of the robbers failing them when the express messenger began shooting at them. Great excitement prevailed among the passengers, two women fainted. There is no clue to the robbers.

Persons who sympathize with the afflicted will rejoice with D. E. Carr, of 1235 Harrison street, Kansas City. He has suffered from inflammatory rheumatism, but has not heretofore been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up in Wisconsin, and in consequence had another attack. "It came upon me again very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swelled and became inflamed; sore to touch or almost to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother-in-law I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used three fifty cent bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism, pains and swellings extant." For sale by John M. Rose.

Hots After Moonshiners.

United States Deputy Marshal M. S. Bullington, of Hawesville, Ky., who has been reconnoitering over Grayson county for some time in search of moonshiners, has captured and placed in jail a Leitchfield Bird Crim, of the Bear creek neighborhood, who is charged with selling liquor without license. He has a warrant for Charles Bates, who is already in jail on a former charge of selling liquor without license. Only last week Deputy Marshals Bullington and Hunter and Town Marshal Meredith raided a moonshine district near Big Clifty and captured one man, but could not locate the still.

Mrs. Lou Day requests us to say to the ladies of Hazel Green and the surrounding country that she has just opened a full and complete line of millinery, dry goods, notions, ladies' dress goods, etc., which she will sell at the lowest price for cash or produce—butter, lard, chickens, eggs, or anything she can use for the table. She has a nice line of trimmed and untrimmed hats, for spring and summer, which will be added to from time to time, so that the very latest styles can be found here. She also has a fine line of toilet articles.

Playing With a Snake.

The family of J. Craig, a merchant at Hallowayton, N. J., were horrified one afternoon last week to find a small child of Mr. Craig's playing with a live black snake four and a half feet long on the front steps of his house. A sister of the child happened to go to the door, and screamed when she saw the plaything that the child had. At her outcry the snake glided away, but returned shortly afterward and was killed. The township is infested with snakes of all kinds, and scores of them have been killed since the warm weather set in.

Dr. S. F. Scott, Blue Ridge, Harrison county, Mo., says: "For whooping cough Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is excellent." By using it freely the disease is deprived of all dangerous consequences. There is no danger in giving the remedy to babies, as it contains nothing injurious. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by John M. Rose.

Twenty years ago this spring while plowing, W. A. Van Sickle, of New Brunswick, N. J., lost a watch in a field. Recently a colored man, while planting corn, dug up a peculiarly shaped article, which turned out to be the watch. After being soaked in oil the watch was found to be in fairly good condition. The crystal of the watch, which was open-faced, was unbroken.
